Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington
of special interest to Michigan ...

April 15, 1957

MAJESTY AND DIGNITY are hallmarks of the United States Senate. Last week, as cherry blossoms opened in Washington, spring came to the Senate Chamber in the guise of courtesy gestures and flowery phrases.

The principle of free and unlimited debate has lifted the Senate to its pinnacle as "the greatest deliberative body in the world." Determinately—and spring can be one of those times—the principle may serve to drown a kernel of action in a sea of words. An example: Senate discussion of my bill to exempt wheat farmers from penalties for overplanting.

In a nutshell, three powerful allies stepped forward last week to support the bill—two members of the Senate Agriculture Committee and the Department of Agriculture itself. But the saga of these simple actions as they unfolded on the Senate floor covers page after wordy page in the Congressional Record, all in fine print. Democracy in action, complete with verbal curlicues, is revealed in this highly condensed portion of the Record:

SENATOR POTTER. Many small farmers in Michigan have an allotment of 17, 18, or 20 acres of wheat. They are being taxed into court and prosecuted when they plant one or two acres more than their allotment. It is difficult for me—and for our farmers—to understand how the Congress of the United States can fail to act. Day after day farmers are being prosecuted. For what? Because they used their wheat to feed their stock or for seed. The farmers of Michigan are pretty independent. They cannot understand why the Congress has not acted.

SENATOR HUMPHREY. The Senator from Michigan has an ally with the strength of a legion. I refer to the distinguished Senator from North Dakota, Mr. Young. Together they will stand as would the Spartans at the pass of Thermopylae had they been reinforced. They are winning all the struggles. They cannot lose. It would be helpful if the Senator from Michigan would await the day when his measure can be reported in its full glory. With the Senator from North Dakota and the Senator from Michigan marching arm in arm in a solid phalanx there is no doubt that victory will crown their efforts and glory will be their reward.

I wish to commend the Senator from Michigan. I hold in my hand a favorable report from the Department of Agriculture on this bill. The bill is now before the Senate. I give my wholehearted assurance of cooperation and my pledge of fidelity and loyalty to the end.

SENATOR CARLSON. In view of the fine words of the Senator from Minnesota, I merely wish to advise the Senator from Michigan to beware of Greeks bearing gifts.

SENATOR MUNDT. I too feel that the proposal of the Senator from Michigan is excellent. We have heard today, in open meeting, the pledge and the promise of the junior Senator from Minnesota. I might add that there is nothing the Senator from South Dakota would rather do than ride herd on the junior Senator from Minnesota in this connection.

SENATOR HUMPHREY. Of that there is ample proof already. SENATOR MUNDT. I know he will not need any watching or pressuring or pushing. But if he should need it, I shall be very happy to do it. I am sure our committee will report the proposed legislation.

SENATOR AIKEN. Coming from a dairy State, I wish to make the observation that it is pleasant to note one place where butter is used very liberally. SENATOR HUMPHREY. I suggest that we now have the unbeatable combination of Notre Dame and Michigan State. SENATOR POTTER. And with Minnesota doing the line bucking, I am sure we will have success.

Postal Costs May Rise To $81,600
(Special to the Avalanche)

New York, April 29—If the Post Office Department succeeds in its current move to raise postal rates, business firms and individuals in Grayling will have to pay much more than their present $68,737 a year.

The department, in its bill before Congress, is seeking an overall increase of some $482 million a year, the bulk of which would be achieved through a 33 percent rise in first-class letter mail, from 3 cents to 4 cents. That would yield over $350 million of the amount sought. Air mail letters would advance from 6 to 7 cents and post cards from 2 to 3 cents.

The other $112 million would come from increases in other categories. Rates for second-class mail, chiefly newspapers and magazines, would go up about 15 percent a year for four years. Third-class matter, including advertising material, books and small parcels, would also advance according to a formula. No rate rise for parcel post is asked.

In Grayling, the effect of this price hike would be to increase total spending for postal services.

officially reported at $68,737, to an annual rate of $81,600.

The all-out move by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield for higher rates is based on the fact that the department has been in the red most of the time since it was established, 168 years ago. The deficits have steadily been increasing in size. This year, the operating loss of $483 million is expected. Most of it will be wiped out, however, if the current bill becomes law.

Considerable heat, pro and con, has been developed on the floor of Congress and in committee hearings in connection with it. It boils down to two completely opposite concepts of the postal service.

One holds that it is just a big business and should be operated as such, with charges sufficient to pay its expenses, at least. The other side views it as a public service, whose deficits should be absorbed from taxes, just as are the expenses of other Government agencies.

DESIGNED FOR THE FUTURE

Four good reasons why today's superior concrete pavement will save lives and dollars for generations of American drivers on the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways:

1. Safety. Gritty texture for better skid-resistance, light color for higher visibility.
2. Durability. Much longer life than any other type of pavement.
3. Low upkeep. Lowest maintenance cost as proven by published records of 24 state highway departments.
4. Costs no more to build. Lower first cost than other types designed for the same traffic.

Best investment for tax dollars—concrete.

Michigan's concrete highways serve an average of 27 years before resurfacing. Concrete roads cost no more than equal flexible type surfacings but serve twice as long—releasing more tax dollars to improve secondary roads. On all counts, concrete has proved best for Michigan.

House Cleaning . . .

Director Riesel, the distinguished writer on labor affairs who was blinded with acid by goons, believes that current Congressional investigation into alleged ties by certain labor leaders, will result in legislation forcing unions to clean house. Public opinion — which includes the opinion of the rank-and-file union members and the many honest officers of unions — will lead that.

Riesel goes on to describe three specific fields in which legislation can be expected. First, the law must that union members run and actually control their unions. Second, protections must be erected and the welfare and pension funds, which now total an incredible sum of $25 billion. Third, something must be done about labor's political activities so far as it leads to corruption and racketeering.

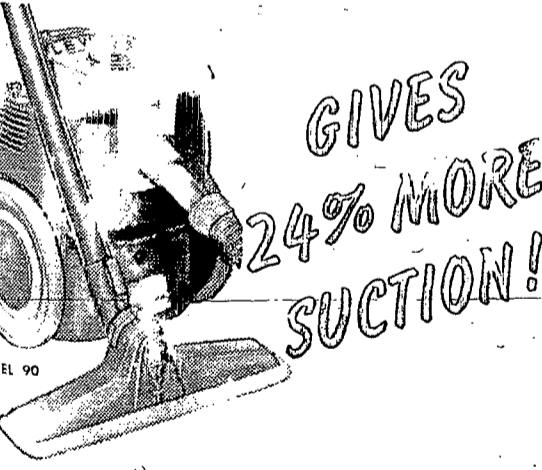

This is all to the good. But there is one more essential step — entirely aside from special legislative needs — which will be made clear by the president investigator. That is adoption, by all the states, of right-to-work laws which make union membership a voluntary matter, which each worker can decide himself, without coercion.

Indiana recently became the 18th state to adopt such a law, and, significantly, it was the first major industrial state to do so. Right-to-work is in no way anti-union — the unions are free to organize as many workers wish to join. It is, however, pro-worker and pro-union. For it makes the union "sell itself" on the basis of the kind of service it gives and the standards of conduct it follows. It does away with union monopoly in any field, inevitably breeds corrup-

Lausche opposed a $5 million Federal appropriation for Pan American games to be held in Cleveland in 1959, saying: "The Federal budget must be cut. I cannot support for Ohio something that I would oppose in another State." Cleveland is the biggest city in the Senator's home state.

There has been a prairie fire of protest mail from men and women in all walks of life, demanding heavy cuts in the budget followed by tax reduction. But, pressures for spending by minority groups, seeking hand-outs from the Treasury, are terrific.

The people themselves will have to curb their own demands for public spending if they ever hope to reduce the burden of crushing taxation.

Giddap! . . .

According to the Citizens Committee of the Hoover Report, the government has now accepted 39 per cent of the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

But wait a moment before you cheer. The accepted 39 per cent involves only 9.6 per cent of the possible dollar savings. More than 90 per cent of the dollar savings (which would reach $5 billion a year) are in the 61 per cent of the recommendations that still lie dormant.

Unfortunately there was a terrible wind blowing that morning, and it endangered the other homes in the neighborhood, making it necessary for pail brigades. Both the house and the contents were fully covered by

At present writing there are seven patients in the hospital and all are progressing nicely under the capable care of both Sisters and nurses.

Scout Committee Holds Monthly Planning Meet

The monthly planning meeting of the Grayling Boy Scout Committee was held at the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce offices last Thursday.

Chairman Bud Halstead presided at the meeting with Don Jansen, Clyde Koch, Ernest Larson, Lyle Hilsby and Al Dasen in attendance.

It was decided that the Grayling Scouts would attach the bumper strips advertising Michigan Week as their contribution to the annual affair. Cleaning of the AuSable River from the US-27 bridge to the State street bridge was also taken on as a Grayling troop project. Plans call for a rifle instructor to be here to instruct the Scouts in handling firearms on April 30 and on May 7th will accompany the troop to the Frederic rifle range for a shoot.

It was revealed that William LaGrow and Kip Papendick have been giving very active assistance to the Scoutmaster and consideration was given to naming them as assistant scoutmasters.

HAVOLINE
The Motor Oil that OUT-PERFORMS them all!

☆ If you haven't driven into a Texaco Dealer service station lately, do it the next time you need an oil change, and put in Advanced Custom-Made Havoline. In rigid road tests against other leading motor oils—under both warm and cold weather conditions—Havoline's performance proved far superior. Havoline-lubricated engines delivered more power, faster pickup, better gasoline mileage; and when the motors were inspected, showed practically no wear or rust. Independent tests prove that Havoline is the best motor oil your money can buy, regardless of price.

And the home folks that will serve you—Texaco Dealers—are listed below.
